Mixing Stand RMX

Work safely and stay healthy

The RMX mixing stand takes the strain off you when mixing. This relieves pressure on your back. The lifting assistance is particularly convenient, allowing the mixing unit to be raised and lowered easily with the aid of a gas pressure spring. The articulated arm of the RMX ensures that every point in the mixing bucket can be reached.

Cost-effective

Ideal for mixed jobs where mixing takes place directly in the delivered bucket. Larger mixing tasks do not always require investment in an automatic mixer. In such cases, the mixing stand can be a more cost-effective alternative. However, the hand mixer must be guided during the mixing process, meaning that mixing alone is not possible. High efficiency can be achieved when used in combination with a double-spindle mixer.

Mobile and flexible

Easy to transport when folded thanks to carrying handle and low weight. Can be assembled and disassembled in just a few steps. Robust construction with stable 4-leg stand for secure footing. Also proven in workshop use as a mixing station and can be quickly stowed away to save space when not in use.

Relieves back strain, maintains health

The mixer can be moved in all directions. Every sector in the bucket is reached.
